Tumwater High School Alumni Association

THSAA President's Message, 2022

Greetings to all, as we commence our tenth year as an IRS 501 (C) (3) non-profit charitable corporation. In spite of the challenges presented by the current pandemic, we continue to pursue our core mission of promoting alumni connectivity, giving back to THS, and having fun. We were saddened to defer our planned "all-class" reunion another year due to the challenges imposed by public health conditions in August 2021. We are planning our next "all-class" reunion for August 22, 2022 at Sherman Valley Ranch, provided the public health status will permit. We are hoping we can get back to the atmosphere created during the "all class" reunion of September 2019. Our large gathering of 300++ alumni were able to have unencumbered camaraderie and fun without having to worry about masks and vaccines. On the bright side the 2021 THSAA Artesian Classic Golf Tournament was a huge success with sixteen teams (64 players) signed up on a cool windy June 5th afternoon. The tournament featured several past and present THS football coaches; Sid Otton, Bill Beattie, Pat Alexander, and Rick McGrath (this created a mini-reunion of sorts as several golf participants were former THS football players and wrestlers). Also featured were Tumwater School District administrators; Brian Hardcastle, Jim Brittain and Dana Fraser. THSAA Artesian Classic is our primary fund-raising activity in support of our scholarship program and we'll continue to "lean" on the goal of having a full 36 team tournament. Special thanks go to all participants, sponsors, volunteers, and board members for this successful event. Reminder, this year's Artesian Classic Golf Tournament will again be at Capitol City Golf Club, 1PM shotgun start, June 4, 2022. Signup at "tumwaterhighalumni.com/golf" or complete the attached form.

Scholarship awards to deserving graduating seniors has been our main focus of "giving back" to THS. This year we were able to again award a total of $9,000 to six 2021 graduating seniors. In today's cost of higher education $1,500 might fund a quarter at a local community college; we would love to be able to greatly increase the amount in the coming years. The Artesian Golf Classic has funded a few scholarships each year in the past; however, in recent years the majority of funding has come from several donations from alumni in varying amounts and we are grateful for their support. Of special note are a couple of alumni who have donated significant amounts over the past several years which has allowed us to triple the amount of scholarship awards recently. A SPECIAL THANK YOU to Peter Batura of Katy Texas who attended THS in the early 70s when his parents were stationed at Fort Lewis and Ron Moon, (class of '65) who previously donated to the Career Center Improvement Project at THS. We are very blessed to have your support.

Message from Principal Broome

1/18/22

Greetings Alumni Association! Thank you for your continued support and I am excited to share some important updates with you all. Here are some things we are continuing to work on as we strive to uphold our values of pride, tradition, and courage. This year has been very unique as we have moved back to a full day schedule while continuing to enforce our safety guidelines, social distancing, and testing. Our Athletic Director, Tim Graham, has done incredible work to make sure that we can continue to compete and perform. This fall our Football program played in the state championship, placing 2nd in state! It was the end of an incredible year and we are so proud of their accomplishments.

MASCOT

Last year, the State Legislature passed HB 1356, which banned the inappropriate use of Native American names or symbols as a mascot, logo, or team name. To honor the sovereignty of the Nisqually and Squaxin Island tribes, it was Board President Melissa Beard and not district staff who approached the tribes to ask permission to continue the use of the Thunderbird as the THS mascot. Melissa's conversation with each tribe focused on how the district could work with the tribe to educate students about the history of the land on which the school district sits. The Nisqually tribe passed a resolution in December allowing the continued use of the Thunderbird and credited the school with being respectful in how they used the Thunderbird. Both tribes are excited to work with THS students to teach the history of the Thunderbird, what it means to the tribes, and create Thunderbird art that honors the traditions of both THS and each of the tribes. We are proud that this requirement will lead to partnerships that benefit all involved.

Thank you THS Alumni Association for your continued support. We are excited to continue the legacy of excellence that you started.

Sincerely,

Jeff Broome

THS Principal

Class of 1997

Editors Note: Melissa Beard also serves on the THS Alumni Association Board of Directors as our Membership Chair.

2021 Scholarship Winners

THSAA awarded six $1,500 secondary education scholarships to six graduating THS seniors. The graduates are Isabella Clemmens, Abigail Jasper, Madison Langbell, Preston Sands, Rosalyn Tobek, and Nathan Vani. The scholarship selection is made based upon leadership and scholarship. These persons are fine examples of the values of THS and the alumni association. Congratulations Isabella, Abigail, Madison, Preston, Rosalyn, and Nathan.

Isabella Clemmens

The last four years I have spent as a T-Bird have changed the person I am today. As I Prepare for graduation from THS, I have had lots of time to look back and reflect upon all the school has given me. I have learned to take pride in my work and my accomplishments, power through challenges, and most importantly to always seek to be part of something bigger than myself.

Along with school work, THS has given me the opportunity to take on a lot of projects that I can be proud of. From organizing a voter registration drive, fundraising for projects I am passionate about, or even, this year, painting the new mural that will get to hang outside the commons, there has always been an opportunity for me to showcase my talents and make true change. I have learned that it is important to reward yourself and give yourself credit for your accomplishments. I now take pride in my work and all of the things I have achieved. I will implement this into my post-high school career.

It has not always been easy. There have been times where I had to stay up late into the night just trying to finish a difficult homework assignment, but it gave me a chance to push through and succeed. Although my challenges may be seen as simple or feasible tasks, I learned to balance all of my activities and power through challenges to finish successfully and in a timely manner. I will take these lessons into my next years of schooling.

Most importantly, THS taught me to always want to be a part of something bigger. Every day I step into the building I am an individual student, but I am also a part of a larger working whole. Tumwater is one big support system and we are all looking out for each other. Whether it was cheering on my teammates in our competitions, or even a 'you got this' from a peer before a hard test we were both nervous about, we always have each other's backs. Just because my time at THS is coming to an end does not mean I will have to lose everything it has given to me. I will go into college looking for this same community.

I am proud to be a future Tumwater High School Alumni and know that at one point I was a part of a family of students; although I will miss it, I am excited to give the opportunity for more incoming students to have the same experience I did. Nothing will ever be quite like Tumwater High School, and that is what makes it special.

Abigail Jasper

I distinctly remember my first day of high school and how nervous I was. I put my schedule on every binder and notebook that I had so I knew when each class was and when I had my lunch or Core/Flex. During passing periods, my head was constantly facing down towards a map that I made that showed me where to go to get to each of my classes. Then slowly but surely, I took my schedule off of my notebooks and binders. I threw away my map and paid attention to the hallways I walked down. I looked at all the posters that surrounded me, I said "hi" to more and more people as I passed them in the hallway, I felt like I truly belonged more and more every day and I wasn't as nervous.

The more I became involved with the school, the more I realized how amazing of an environment it was. The plays that I attended were outstanding and the choir concerts that I participated in were nerve racking but the people I was with were always comforting. The assemblies Leadership and Renaissance lead were always the best to watch, and nothing can top the feeling of Friday Night Lights when we sang our Fight Song for the football players. Then when I joined tennis, it was even more welcoming and had the most encouraging people. As a freshman playing with juniors and seniors I was extremely intimidated, but at the end of the season they were the ones that made me want tennis to be an all-year sport.

After I graduate THS, I'm determined to carry on the helpfulness that teachers had towards us students, the high energy that the school assemblies had, and the kindness that you'd see from students in the hallways or classroom. But most importantly, I plan on carrying on the hard work and dedication that Tumwater High School puts in to make sure that every single person there feels welcomed by being the most kind, welcoming, and helpful person that I can be. THS became my home away from home, and I wouldn't have wanted to go to any other high school.

The complete strangers that I stood next to in the nest at football games are now some of my best friends, and I still talk to my teachers of from previous years as much as I can. There are days that I dreaded waking up at 6:30 to go to school, but the relationships and memories that I've created through these past four years are the best that I could ever ask for, and I'm beyond proud that I will be able to call myself a THS graduate.

Tradition has always been a very important concept at Tumwater High School. It is the first thing Mr. Broome talks about at freshman orientation, and it is constantly brought up throughout your four years as a student, as a reminder of what's important at THS. However, there's a lot more to tradition at THS than one may think. Tradition is defined as "the transmission of customs or beliefs from generation to generation, or the fact of being passed on in this way." There is a tradition at Tumwater that I believe all students can carry with them after high school; NGUNNGU.

What once started as a reminder to THS athletes to "never give up, never never give up" is now used not only on the field but in the classroom to inspire all Tumwater students. We are prideful in our efforts to uplift one another with a simple phrase; NGUNNGU. When the going gets tough, as it inevitably does in high school, there is always a Tumwater teacher by your side reminding you to "never give up never never give up". This phrase unifies Tumwater High School students from all different demographics and groups. This phrase has become what Tumwater High School is known for.

We have seen in this past year that life is unpredictable. However, when we were all given the option of giving up and succumbing to the harsh reality that has been the major shift in everyone's lifestyles, the THS faculty and students alike kept up the NGUNNGU mindset. Because of this, students were able to continue to learn, and now, we have been allowed to return to on-campus events and classes. Nothing is the same, but that hasn't stopped Tumwater. Because at Tumwater, we don't give up. We adapt.

As I leave, start college, and pursue a career, this is a value that will carry me to the end. I will be reminded that giving up is not an option. You can adapt and overcome, or you can step down or resign if necessary, but giving up is not a option. The difference is in the approach. I have been in a position where I had to think long and hard about whether I was going to resign from a position or continue. After thinking about it and coming to terms with what would be best for me, I was able to quit with dignity. That is not giving up. Giving up is a permanent "solution" for a temporary issue. This is a lesson I have learned throughout my high school career. To some, the two are the same, but I understand that they are different.

So as I move on to further my education at Seattle Pacific University, and my life afterwards, I will carry with me the Tumwater value "NGUNNGU" as a reminder to never make a permanent decision for a temporary issue. I will forever remember the six word phrase, "never give up never never give up."

Pride. Tradition. Courage. Although these words can seem repetitive as they were printed on posters that line the hallways and classrooms, these three words carry significant meaning in my life. The story of how these three words would shape the rest of my life starts before I had ever set foot in a Tumwater High School classroom. I had not grown up in the Tumwater School District, and my parents decided to transfer me to THS as I made the transition to high school. Little did I know that the next four years would shape my relationships, career goals, and most importantly, the values I will soon carry as a Tumwater High School graduate.

On my first of high school. I remember feeling accepted into a community that would play a crucial role in my life. I am sure there was a spark in my eye as I knew that I had just become a part of something bigger than myself. I have impactful memories of cheering on my friends from the bleachers. I remember thinking I was being pushed to my academic limits in Freshman Honors classes, not knowing the restless nights that would come in the following years during prep for AP exams. Looking back, these memories start to blur together, but the values and sense of community that is carried with them are still vivid and present in my life.

The community I felt was what made me fall in love with THS. As I progressed through high school, I became more and more involved in the THS family and took on leadership roles to extend this feeling to others. Watching the spark light in someone's eye was a sense that filled me with pride, knowing I had just watched a new member join the THS family. High school has taught me so much about myself and the world around me, and I am confident that I will continue to grow more over the next few months. I have learned lessons of diligence, perseverance, and courage through being present with my classmates and teachers, and these values have shaped me into the person I am today.

Although, at times, high school may seem like it only leads up to a diploma, graduation carries so much more for the people who have poured themselves into their community. As I go onto the next steps of my life, I know the values I learned at Tumwater will not only carry with me, but they will light the pathway for my future. When I form new relationships and become a part of new communities, the people around me will know that the person I have become was born out of my high school family's pride, tradition, and courage. In my future, if I can see that spark in someone else's eye, I will be reminded of Tumwater High School, and I will know that I have successfully carried on the values that have shaped me.

Nathan Vani

Tumwater High School has been my home for the past four years. It is really crazy to think that I am graduating from high school in about two months and that I will be leaving for college in about five months. I remember walking into the gym my freshman year during the freshman orientation and seeing this big place. It was kind of overwhelming at first, but with the welcoming seniors and teachers they made me feel like I was home. When I was a freshman, I became friends with a senior named Nathan Seaman. He was my mentor during my freshman year. We were both kickers in football, therefore our bond started there. He took me under his wing and helped me with any questions I had, not only about school but life as well. I believe that these are values that we as T-Birds need to carry on in the next chapter of our lives. It is important to carry on compassionate values in which we are willing to help others around us, as this will help us to succeed in school and life.

I was fortunate enough to be part of an amazing football program during my years at THS. Coach Bill Beattie always spoke about something that really stood out to me. He said that everyone focuses on the wins and losses and the state titles, but what really defines us as a team is where will we be as men twenty years from now. The point he always made was that it was not about winning all the games but about how this program set us up to being great men in the future. Another value that stood out to me is when Coach McGrath, another one of my football coaches, talked to us about fighting for each other. We fight for each other because we are family. This applies to not only football but in life as well. These are values that I cherish and will continue to follow in life.

Because of the pandemic, this past year has been a very unique one for almost everyone, me included. It has definitely not been the senior year that I had anticipated, but I adapted. Dealing with adversity is a lesson that I have learned at THS, learning to roll with changes while not getting overwhelmed.

When I reflect on what it will mean to be a Tumwater graduate, I think about how grateful I am to have attended a high school that has such an amazing sense of pride, honor and tradition. Tumwater High School has had a great impact on my life from the lessons that I have learned to the positive influence of the teachers and staff. I am very grateful that I was able to attend such a fantastic high school.

Rosalyn Tobek

Pride, tradition and courage exemplify what it means to be a Thunderbird, and are guiding principles for my life beyond high school. As I culminate my four year tenure at THS, I am reflective of the body of my work. I have a great deal of pride in my accomplishments: a 3.91 GPA while taking honors, AP and college courses; four years involvement in THS bands playing four different instruments; my leadership and work in Thunderbird theater productions; pride in my contributions of artwork and graphic design for t-shirts, music and play programs, posters and music stands for Tumwater activities and departments. Finally, I am proud of how I conducted myself at school: I stood up for what I believed in, even when it was uncomfortable, discussing issues with the school administration and being an advocate for myself and other students. I am proud of the fact that my moral compass is true, and I have remained an honest, trustworthy and compassionate friend. I have steered clear of tobacco, nicotine, alcohol, and drug abuse. In every aspect of my life, I have conducted myself with pride and integrity, always putting my best foot forward from my classwork to my character.

Tumwater has a long tradition of excellence, and I am glad to be a part of it. My parents (and grandparents) are both graduates of THS (Dad '89, Mom '92) and it was important to them to live, work and serve in the Tumwater community where they grew up and were supported. It was also important to them that I was part of that THS tradition of excellence. My parents were prepared well for college and work by their varied and rigorous classwork at Tumwater, and I feel that after four years, I too am ready to tackle the challenges I am about to face as I embark on my undergraduate work at Pacific Lutheran University in pursuit of a degree in Psychology. Tumwater also has a tradition of embracing lifelong learning, and in that spirit, I will continue to

It has taken a lot of courage to get to graduation. The pandemic lockdown, uncertainty of the virus, isolation from my friends and family, loss of my job, anxiety about my grades, drastic changes in my parents' employment, and the difficulties of online learning were very depressing; my spirit was broken, and I lost all my motivation. It was a traumatic experience, and I had to look deep within myself to find the courage to dig myself out of the hole I was in. After many weeks of persistence, and with courage to reach out for help, I was able to prevail.

I would be honored to represent the alumni of Tumwater High School with this scholarship, as I work towards my goal of a Ph.D. in Clinical Psychology, and I will continue to uphold the values of pride, tradition, and courage for the rest of my days.

THSAA ALUMNI SPOTLIGHT

Tumwater High School Alumni Association would like to spotlight a generous donor:

RON & LINDA MOON:

Ron Moon was among the first students to found Tumwater High School, beginning in September of 1961 and graduating with the Class of 1965. He wrestled for three years and enjoyed art class with art teacher Robert Brian.

After working a year at Simpson in Mcleary and a year and a half at Boeing, he had a long career in Longshoring where he worked alongside his dad, brother, and uncles.

Linda and Ron have been married for fifty years and have a daughter, (also a THS Alum), two grandchildren, and two great-grandchildren.

Ron’s passion with antique cars began when He purchased his first car, a Ford Model A, at the age of 14 and drove it to school. Since then he has collected cars made by the Moon Motor Company (from 1906 to 1930). There are eight Moons in the State of Washington and “I’ve owned seven at one time or another”, states Ron. He has also learned that he is related to the Manufacture. He now owns six cars made by Moon, one horse buggy made by Moon Brothers and a 1957 Chevrolet.

Ron also enjoys hunting and fishing.
